MARCH 2010

From the Co-ordinator

Hello again fellow members

It is a busy time of the year in Adelaide with all the extra art events as part of the festivals - don't forget that there is good art out in the suburbs as well as the city venues. Try to include Gallery M on your artistic travels, and particularly our next opening of three new exhibitions on Friday 12 March. The cafe next to Gallery M will be open from 5pm with live music - it creates a great atmosphere for all of our visitors.

Thanks to every one who donated yummy food for recent openings. However, we are accumulating a lot of uncollected empty dishes and plates that you have forgotten about. If you think you might have left a dish behind, come and check as soon as possible, as we may have to donate them to charity if we can't get them back to you.

The Board has been having some Strategic Planning sessions, the most recent facilitated session being very generously paid for by Cr Irene Whennan. Irene is a dedicated Red House member, and assists the group in many ways, most of them unrecognised. Thank you Irene for your continued support, and for the financial assistance you have offered.

See you soon - Julie

Nominations for SALA Festival Moving Image Project 2010 Now Open!

The SALA Moving Image Project 2010 is set to be a dynamic and exciting showcase of the work of established artists in South Australia.

SALA has procured a range of exciting and innovative venues for the project. The moving Image exhibition will be curated across these venues by Moving Image Project Curator, Karen Paris.

The SALA Moving Image Project 2010 is open to all moving image, performance and moving installation artists and artwork, both emerging and established, and expressions of interest are sought from artists to be included in the project. Expressions of interest close on 26th March 2010.

The venues include Queens Street Theatre, which will be the hub, where we are looking at running workshops, performances and forums throughout the exhibition. We have also secured the Rundle Street Lanterns, Adelaide Entertainment Centre big screens, Adelaide Festival Centre, Arts SA offices and more. SALA is thrilled to announce Bang & Olufsen as the most recent project sponsor who will also present an exhibition in their showrooms.

Expressions of interest are sought from artists working in video and film, installation and performance.

For further information go to www.salafestival.com and for the nomination form follow this link here.
